the service of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad Company, and then took up farming. Mr. Smith was one of the hard working farmers of Albemarle county until 1911, when he sold his property and has since lived in the village of Earlysville. He is a republican in politics.

ROBERT A. WATSON is a lawyer by profession, but in recent years his time has been more and more taken up with a broadening scope of business affairs at Charlottesville, where he is vice-president and head of the Trust Department of the Peoples National Bank.

Mr. Watson was born in Nelson County, Virginia, October 29, 1877, son of A. S. and M. Louise (Wheeler) Watson. His father was born in Albemarle County in February, 1838, and his mother in Nelson County in 1856. A. S. Watson gave four years of his early life to the cause of the Confederacy, enlisting and serving in Company B of the Second Virginia Cavalry. After the war he returned to Albemarle County, and following his marriage became a prosperous farmer and fruit grower at Covesville, remaining there until his death. His widow now lives in Charlottesville. Both were active members of the Methodist Episcopal Church. They had a family of nine children, eight of whom are living: D. E. Watson, of Baltimore; Mrs. M. L. Rea; Robert A.; Carry W. Greenway, New York; Mrs. G. W. M. Taylor; Mrs. Nellie C. McBride; Mrs. J. H. Harrison; and F. L. Watson.

REV. ROBERT EDWARD LEE AYLOR is one of the well known ministers of the Baptist Church in Virginia. His home is in Albemarle County, where he looks after the welfare and progress of several churches of his denomination, and also supervises the work of his farm, known as Fairview Farm, located near Red Hill Post Office. His country home comprises about one-hundred and forty-five acres, and is well situated and administered for prosperous agriculture and also as an attractive home.

Rev. Mr. Aylor was born in Rappahannock County, Virginia, December 11, 1860, son of Staunton and Malinda (Quintance) Aylor. His father was born in Culpeper County, Virginia, in 1816, and his mother in Rappahannock County in 1818. Staunton Aylor was reared in Culpeper County, became a farmer, and after his marriage in 1836 settled down to the life of agriculture and planting in his native county. His wife was a very devout Baptist. In a family of thirteen children there were three sons represented in the Confederate Army during the civil war between the states. Five of the children are still living: W. J. Aylor, a farmer in Franklin County, Virginia; John L., retired, and resides with his brother, Rev. Aylor; A. W. Aylor, in the real estate and mining business at El Dorado Springs, Missouri; Anna E., wife of T. W. Oyler, of Los Angeles, California; and Rev. R. E. L.

Rev. Mr. Aylor spent his early life on his father's farm in Culpeper County. He attended public schools there, advanced his education in the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College at Bladensburg, and subsequently graduated from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Kentucky. Since entering the ministry Mr. Aylor has been in charge of a number of churches in Virginia. He now devotes his time as pastor of the Mooreland, Covesville, Alberene and Hardware Baptist Churches in Albemarle County. In addition to his present pastorate he has been pastor of the following counties, Montgomery, Warren, Pittsylvania, Halifax, Middlesex and Wise.

Mr. Aylor married Miss Ella K. Vaden, of Chatham, Virginia, and a graduate of the old Roanoke Female College at Danville. Mr. and Mrs. Aylor are the parents of eight children: Robert E., a graduate of the Red Hill High School, Manly and G. Vaden, both students in high school, Raymond C., Staunton E., J. Garrett, Carrie Tate and Mary Louise. All the family takes an active part in the work of the Baptist Church. Mr. Aylor is affiliated with the Masonic Lodge at Scottsburg, is also a member of the Woodmen of the World, and is a democrat.

Carrie (Tate) Vaden, the former born in Halifax County in September, 1851, and the latter born in Pittsylvania County, February 6, 1861, both are still living. Mr. Vaden is the owner of a large farm in Pittsylvania County, is also interested with his son, G. H., Jr., in a grain mill. They are active members of the Chatham Baptist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Vaden are the parents of ten children: Ella K. Robert C., Irene, Marshall, G. H., Jr., Herbert W., Harold E., Louise C., T. Hunt and Madaline.

JAMES L. SHEPHERD, JR., D. D. S. It is easily within the memory of those now living when dental surgery was mainly valued as contributive to the comfort and personal appearances of individuals, instead of, as at the present time, as one of the most vital adjuncts to medical science. Today the thoroughly trained dental practitioner is proficient in more than one science. He not only exercises in his mechanical work relating to mouth hygiene the skill and deftness of the surgeon, but often to him is delegated the task, because of his scientific knowledge, of discovering the hidden menaces to general bodily health, once thought to be the province of the physician alone. Dr. Shepherd was born in Sussex County, Virginia, May 27, 1894, and is a son of James Leftwich and Susie Rives (Jackson) Shepherd, the former of whom was born in Fluvanna County, Virginia, August 17, 1864, and the latter in Sussex County, February 22, 1874. Of their family of six children, Dr. Shepherd is the second in order of birth. The eldest, Newton Jackson, graduated from Wake Forest College, North Carolina, with the degree of B. He married Miss Mary Swain, of Danville, Virginia. The fourth son, Hugh Shepherd, who is a graduate of the Staunton Military Academy, served six months in the World war, being a member of the tion, the Virginia Association of Colleges and the American Association of Junior Colleges. He is a director in the Bank of Bristol and has other interests, owning the home farm of 200 acres of valuable grain land situated near Eagle Rock. In his political allegiance he adheres to the principles of the democratic party, and his religious connection is with the First Baptist Church of Bristol, in which he has served as deacon. He belongs to the Bristol Kiwanis Club, of which he was president in 1922, and to the Bristol Chamber of Commerce.

On June 10, 1902, Professor Noffsinger married at Windsor, Virginia, Miss Civilla Brock, a daughter of Benjamin F. and Elizabeth (Williams) Brock, both deceased. Mr. Brock was a steamboat captain on the James River and Chesapeake Bay for a number of years, but later on settled down to the life of an agriculturist. Mrs. Noffsinger, a graduate of Windsor Academy, taught mathematics at that institution for eight years prior to her marriage. Two children have been born to Professor and Mrs. Noffsinger: Hugh G., Jr., born November 4, 1907, who is now a student at the Mount Herman School for Boys in Massachusetts, and Margaret Elizabeth, born October 4, 1909, who is attending the graded school.

WALTER CLIFTON AYLOR. The Aylor family represented by Walter Clifton Aylor, proprietor of Milford Mills near Manassas, is an old and prominent one in Virginia. The tradition is that the Aylors for some generations lived near the modern industrial city of Essen, Germany, where they were iron workers. One or more members of this family were brought to Virginia as "bound men" during 1717-1725. Governor Spotswood negotiated for the introduction of these people, and paid the passage in return for the labor service they would render. They settled in Madison County, on Robinson River. Through all the generations they have retained their industrious and thrifty characteristics. A great many Aylors are still found in Virginia, especially about Aylor Post Office, where they first settled.

Staunton Aylor, grandfather of the miller of Prince William County, was born in Madison County, Virginia. He spent his last years at Carterville, Missouri, where he died about a score of years ago, when about eighty years of age. He married Malinda Quaintance, who died and is buried at Orchard, Texas. Their children were: Joseph W., who went West before the Civil war and spent his life in Missouri; William Jackson, whose history follows; John, of Marshall, Virginia; Aylette W., who made a fortune in the Missouri lead mines and lives in Jasper County, that state; Robert E. L., a Baptist minister at Red Hill, Virginia; and Annie, who married Walter Oyler, and lives near San Diego, California.

William Jackson Aylor, the father of W. C. Aylor, was born near Peola Mills in Rappahannock County in April, 1842. He is now past four score and lives at Hardy in Franklin County, Virginia. He was educated in the Old Field schools, and was about nineteen when the war broke out. Soon afterward he enlisted as a private in the Seventh Virginia Infantry, Kemper's Brigade, Pickett's Division. He served in the Army of Northern Virginia until captured at the battle of Seven Pines, and the last months of the war he was a prisoner at Point Lookout, Maryland. He was never wounded, and was one of the few members who participated in the famous charge of Pickett's Division at Gettysburg who went through that ordeal unscathed. Following the war he returned to the farm, and his industrious life has been devoted to agriculture. He has always made a good living, and has reared a worthy family. He has been a leader in the Methodist Church of this community, and has always voted the democratic ticket.

Soon after the war he married in Rappahannock County Miss Roberta Jane Bowie, daughter of William K. Bowie, who married a daughter of John White, of one of the old families of Madison County. William J. Aylor and wife had the following children: Walter C., of Manassas; Carlton Bowie, who died at Brandy Station, leaving a wife and child; Mrs. Hattie Whitworth, of Franklin County; Raymond P., of Pulaski, Virginia; Frank L., of Berryville, Virginia; Eva May, wife of Hubert Boothe, of Franklin County; Annie, who married Elbert Hanabass, and she and her three children were burned to death by the explosion of a gasoline smoothing iron; and John W., of Franklin County.

Walter Clifton Aylor was born near Slate Mills in Rappahannock County, August 21, 1872. He attended the free schools in the community of his birthplace, and lived with his parents until he was sixteen years of age. Following that he spent three years as a miller's apprentice in Botetourt County in the Daleville Mill, owned by William G. Nininger. He left there to go to Madison County, and for twenty-one years was the efficient operator of the Madison Mills. Subsequently he became associated with a brother as one of the proprietors of the Aylor Brothers Flour Mill at Culpeper, and after seven years with that institution he came to his present location and bought the Milford Mills. The original Milford Mills were built by members of the Weir family some years before the Civil war. The present plant was erected since the war, and is now a modern roller process fifty barrel mill. Mr. Aylor has kept it in steady operation, and has developed a large demand for his high grade products, which are shipped to a number of Virginia points. Mr. Aylor also owns and operates a small farm on Broad Run. He was made a Mason at Orange, Virginia, has taken the degrees of the York Rite and is a member of Acca Temple of the Mystic Shrine at Richmond.

Mr. Aylor and Miss Katie Taliaferro, of Madison County and representing one of the oldest and most prominent families of Virginia, were married in the City of Washington, November 8, 1892. Mrs. Aylor is a daughter of Fitzhugh and Frances (Twyman) Taliaferro. Her mother was a daughter of Davis and Eliza Walker (Booten) Twyman. Fitzhugh Taliaferro was a son of Dr. Baldwin Taliaferro, of Rapidan, Virginia. The original Taliaferros were French, and have supplied many conspicuous names in Virginia history and branches of the family have been prominent in other states of the South. Fitzhugh Taliaferro was born in August, 1825, and was a member of Gen. Jeb Stuart's Cavalry during the war. His children were: Eliza, wife of William H. Matthews, of Madison County; Miss Sallie W., deceased; Robert E. L., of Madison County; and Mrs. Aylor, who was born April 10, 1868.

Mr. and Mrs. Aylor have two sons: Walter Ellis and William Taliaferro Aylor. Walter Ellis was born May 18, 1896, was educated in the public schools, graduated Bachelor of Arts in 1921 at Hampden-Sidney College, continued his studies at Middlebury College at Vermont, and is now a student of law in George Washington University. During the war he was a second lieutenant of Field Artillery, and was with the replacement troops at Camp Jackson, South Carolina.

William Taliaferro Aylor, the second son, was educated in the public schools in Madison County. He learned the milling business under his father, and is now the tactful man in the Milford Mills.

MAHLON SEESE. One of the citizens of Prince William County who had contributed much to the growing importance of the dairy industry in this section of Virginia is Mahlon Seese, proprietor of Maple Shade farm near Nokesville. Mr. Seese as a self-made man has achieved his prosperity through tysburg and Bunker Hill. As a boy daily witnessing the stirring events of this strenuous period, he developed some of that fearless spirit that stood him so much in need at later periods of his life. Once during the war he was sent at midnight over a lonely road in the country to carry word to a family, whose kinsman was being sought by the conscript hunters, that their relative had not been captured and was safe. Then as a young minister at Harpers Ferry he would in the night cross the Shenandoah River and find his way along the lonely path at the foot of Loudoun Mountain to visit some sick or dying man or woman or perhaps marry a couple. His determination and fearlessness have several times been tested during his long residence at Roanoke.

Doctor Campbell was one of the pioneers in the growth of his home city. Into this section a great commercial development brought a cosmopolitan population, so that for a time Roanoke had all the elements of the typical early Western town. During that early period occurred a fearful tragedy. A negro was charged with attacking a white woman, he was caught and confined in the city jail, and a great crowd gathered and threats of lynching were made. The military company was called out, and this company with the officials of the city occupied the police court room and the jail. When the mob attacked, the military fired into the crowd, killing nine men and wounding between thirty and forty, most of them innocent bystanders. The anger of the crowd was then turned against the military and the city officials. The company quickly disbursed, and the mayor, who had been slightly wounded, was carried by friends into a hotel. For hours the mob ranged the streets threatening vengeance. Meanwhile the negro had been spirited away, but those who had taken him returned to the city later and the mob secured its victim, and hung him to a tree on one of the outer streets of the city and riddled his body with bullets.

During this night of terror the young pastor of the First Presbyterian Church had with others tried to dissuade the mob from lynching the negro. Then in the early morning when word came that the mob was preparing to drag the dead body through the streets and lay it on the center table of the parlor in the home of the mayor, he repaired at once to the scene of the tragedy, where a great crowd had gathered. The body had been cut down, the rope was already around the victim's neck, and the procession was in readiness to start. Standing by the dead body the minister pleaded with the crowd not to do what they proposed. The only reply was angry words and clenched fists shaken in his face. They started with the body. He then stepped among them and took hold of the rope and told the leaders that they should not drag that body through the streets, that the city had already suffered enough. There was a struggle, but others came to his help and they got the rope in their hands and eventually the crowd was turned from their purpose and instead took the body to the bank of the river and burned it. That was the end of lynching in Roanoke.

While at Harpers Ferry Doctor Campbell married Anna Gale Child, daughter of Mr. John A. Child. Doctor Campbell is the father of six children. The oldest, Creighton Child, is a civil engineer, and married Kathleen Thomas, daughter of Honorable M. O. Thomas, of Crockett Springs, Virginia. Emily, the second child, a graduate of Hollins College, Virginia, married J. Allan Greenland, of Clarion, Pennsylvania. Hugh Lyle, the third child, died in infancy. John Blake graduated from Hampden-Sidney College and from Cornell University as an engineer, entered the American army and spent nearly two years in France as a first lieutenant in the Ninety-first Engineers. He married Katherine Field, of Norfolk, Virginia. Anna, also a graduate of Hollins College, went as a teacher in the Boys High School at Kashing, China. Mary, the youngest of the family, graduated from Hollins College and remained a year teaching in that institution.

In 1892 the title of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Reverend Campbell by his alma mater, Hampden-Sidney College. Later he was elected to membership on its Board of Trustees. For forty-two years he was one of the chaplains in Hollins College, one of the largest schools for girls in the South and located in the vicinity of Roanoke. During his life he has visited Mexico, Canada, Egypt, Palestine, Syria, Turkey, Greece, Italy, Switzerland, France, England and Scotland.

JACKSON LEE FRAY, of Culpeper, has been actively identified with the business affairs of this section of Virginia for forty years. He has been a merchant, is the active head of one of the strongest independent telephone companies in that part of the state. The State Corporation Commission pays Mr. Fray the following compliment: "It is very evident that remarkably fine work has been done by J. L. Fray, the president and manager of the company, and that his activity, business acumen and tireless energy are in the main responsible for the good fortune enjoyed by the company's patrons throughout the period of its history."

Mr. Fray was born August 25, 1862, in Madison County, son of Joseph M. and Elizabeth Anne (Keyser) Fray, and a grandson of Ephraim Fray, who was an extensive farmer and slave holder in Madison County. Joseph M. Fray was a man of prominence in Madison County, a substantial farmer, for a number of years held the offices of justice of the peace and school trustee, and in point of service became one of the oldest trustees of Mount Hebron Lutheran Church, the oldest church in Madison County.

Jackson Lee Fray was educated in the common schools, in Warwick High School, and attended Roanoke College. From January 1, 1885, to January 1, 1905, a period of twenty years, he was a merchant at Brightwood, in Madison County. Many of his business interests have been at Culpeper. He promoted and organized the Culpeper Telephone Company, a close corporation, and built and operated a line from Madison Court House, by way of Brightwood, to Orange Court House and Culpeper. Since then this has developed into an extended and strong system of telephone communication, serving the counties of Culpeper, Orange, Rappahannock and Madison. Mr. Fray is secretary, treasurer and general manager of the entire system. Since 1900 he has been a director and since 1911 president of the Second National Bank of Culpeper, one of the strongest banks in this section of the state. The increase in the value of its stock and its deposits has been greater than that shown by any other bank in this section of Virginia. Mr. Fray is also president and the largest stockholder in the Culpeper Silk Factory, is a stockholder in the Culpeper Merchants Grocery and the Culpeper Pants Company, and is a founder and sole owner of the Fairfax Theater at Culpeper. He is at present the president of the Chamber of Commerce. Among other interests he owns a farm in Culpeper County.

Mr. Fray for many years was a school trustee. Fraternally he is affiliated with the Masonic Order, being past high priest of the Royal Arch Chapter and past eminent commander of the Knights Templar, and is a Shriner. He is a member of the Lutheran Church.

In 1901 he married Miss Belle Crigler, daughter of J. C. and Mary E. (Aylor) Crigler. Her father was a farmer and was a Confederate soldier, being captain of a company under Stonewall Jackson. By his first marriage Mr. Fray has one daughter, Ruth O., who was educated at Mount Meima Seminary in North Carolina, and Elizabeth College at Salem, Virginia.

stituting Old Manor Plantation, one of the large and profitable general and live stock farms in the county. He is also a director of the Front Royal National Bank.

Practically ever since attaining his majority Mr. Boyd has had to share some of his time with public responsibilities. For several years he was assistant county surveyor, and in this work he used the same compass which his father had used in his extensive practice as a civil engineer. Mr. Boyd has also been a justice of the peace, and for eight years was a member of the Board of Supervisors, and in that capacity took a very active interest in the construction of the State District Macadam Highway from Front Royal to Bentonville, and did all he could in other directions to further the good road program in the county. Since 1915 he has served as commissioner of revenue for Warren County, and at the same time has continued his enlightened efforts in behalf of good roads construction.

Mr. Boyd is county secretary of the Warren County Farmers' union, which was organized in 1920, and in less than two years has justified the organization by many practical benefits to its former members, including a substantial reduction in price of fertilizers and in other essential supplies required by the farmer. The buying of these supplies is handled through the Farmers' Co-operative Exchange at Front Royal, of which Mr. Boyd is a director.

Mr. Boyd was a member of the committee that had charge of the erection of the monument on Court House Square to the memory of the Confederate dead. During the World war he helped fill out questionnaires, was a member of the Red Cross organization and active in all the war drives. Mr. Boyd taught school for two years in the Browntown District before he entered public life. He is a consistent member of the Methodist Church, and is affiliated with the Winchester Lodge of Elks and the Front Royal Camp of Modern Woodmen of America.

JAMES MARSHALL BARBEE, cashier of the Bank of Occoquan, has had a varied business experience covering nearly thirty years. He was formerly a merchant at Richmond, and has been identified with the Bank of Occoquan for nearly ten years.

He was born May 15, 1876, and spent the first sixteen years of his life on Cedar Run, three miles south of Brentsville, in Prince William County. He is a son of James M. Barbee and a brother of Sheriff Charles A. Barbee of Prince William County. Further information in regard to the Barbee family is published on other pages.

Mr. Barbee laid the foundations of his early education while on his father's farm. When he was sixteen he went to Richmond, became a student in the West End School and took a business course in the John Marshall High School. Following that he returned to the farm for two years, and then entered the service of the Richmond Street Railway as a motorman. From that he became clerk in a grocery store, and finally he and two fellow employes bought out the establishment. For six years he was a member of the firm conducting the Broad Street Market at Richmond. In the meantime he completed a course in banking at the John Marshall High School, receiving a diploma.

Selling his business interests at Richmond, Mr. Barbee returned to Prince William County and on May 21, 1914, began his connection with the Bank of Occoquan. This bank was organized in 1910, by local interests at Occoquan, including W. M. Smoot. The first officers were: George W. Hunter, president; William S. Lynn, vice president; D. S. Beach, vice president, and J. W. Garner, cashier. Succeeding Mr. Hunter as president came R. A. Jellison, who still occupies that office. The second cashier was J. H. Weedon, the third, A. G. Uhler, and Mr. Barbee succeeded Mr. Uhler. The bank operates on its original capital of $10,000, has surplus and undivided profits of over $9,600, and the deposits average about $18,000. This bank made a notable record during the bond sales in the World war. A flag representing every bond issue was presented to the institution as a token of its accepting more than its quota, and in the Victory Loan the bank doubled its quota, the flag representing that issue bearing two stars instead of one.

Mr. Barbee is one of the owners of the Swan Canning Company of Occoquan, an industry organized in 1922 for packing tomatoes. The capacity of the plant is 10,000 cases a season. Almost since locating at Occoquan Mr. Barbee has served as one of the Village Council. He cast his first presidential vote for Colonel Bryan in 1900. His family were Old School Baptists, but he has no church membership and belongs to no fraternity.

He married at Occoquan, December 25, 1915, Miss Nora Carter, daughter of L. Tillman Carter. Her mother was a Turner. Her father was born in Prince William County and spent his active career in Occoquan as a blacksmith. Besides Mrs. Barbee, the other children were: Margaret, Lewis, Walter, William and Harry.

JAMES HENRY BOYD FOGLEMAN, employed by the Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station (Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Virginia), was born near Guilford Battle Ground, Alamance County, North Carolina, son of John Tyler and Frances Ellen Fogleman, and grandson of Tyler and Polly Moser Fogleman. Tyler Fogleman, a native of Pennsylvania, moved to Alamance County, North Carolina, in young manhood, and died there. He owned a plantation near "Little" Mount Pleasant Lutheran Church, and also near Friendship Church and Academy. The Foglemans came from Holland in the Colonial period.

John Tyler Fogleman was born in Alamance County, North Carolina, in 1843, and died in Burlington, that county, in 1910; was reared and married in his native county, became a successful farmer and prominent business man, working politically with the democratic party. He represented Alamance County in the North Carolina House of Delegates one term. He was a member of the Lutheran Church and gave it hearty support. When war broke out between the two sections of the country in 1861 he was one of the men in Alamance County who enlisted in the Confederate army, serving until peace was declared. He was wounded one time, but slightly; when drawing his bayonet a bullet struck his fifth finger on his right hand. On his return home he took up the serious problems of reconstruction. He married Frances Ellen Shoffner, who was born in Alamance County in 1853, and died in Burlington in 1908. Their children were as follows: Nora, Thaddeus, who died young; Sallie, the next child, a daughter, died in infancy; Mary, Michael, Queen, James Henry Boyd, Flora, William, Page and Webb.

James Henry Boyd Fogleman received his education in public schools in Alamance County, and in the City of Burlington, Friendship Academy, Oak Ridge Institute, Guilford County, and the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. In 1906 he went from Columbia, South Carolina, from the employ of the Southern Railway, to the Virginia Bridge and Iron Company, Roanoke, Virginia, and there remained until March 8, 1908, on which date he went to Blacksburg, Virginia, in the employ of the Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station (Virginia Polytechnic Institute). In real estate and insurance he has built up one of the leading agencies in Montgomery County. He owns a commercial apple orchard of 1,200 trees near Blacksburg, and also owns a comfortable residence on South Main Street, Blacksburg. He is an active democrat and has served on the Town Council. A Mason, he belongs to Hunter's Lodge No. 156, Ancient Free and Notes.

In the Isle of Wight records, Bisley Selden, of Barnstaple in county of Devon, administrator of John Selden, late of Barnstaple aforesaid, merchant, deceased, appoints Joseph Rudd, of Barnstaple, to recover of William Burke, of Chuckatuck, in Virginia, merchant, all debts and goods, delivered by order of the said John Selden, "my late husband," to Thomas Beaple, of Barnstaple aforesaid, and Robert Charton, of the same place, mariners, for said William Burke, etc., 1670.

On page 265. "Mary Selden married Milner." The Milner was Thomas Milner, whom she married in 1719–'20. (Quarterly, Vol. I., p. 157.)

SELDEN FAMILY.

In last number there is some confusion caused by erroneous numbering. The most serious error occurs in giving the children of Col. Miles Selden. The following restatement is believed to be correct:

59, Miles[4] Selden (Miles,[3] Joseph,[2] Samuel[1]), married on March 27, 1774, Elizabeth Armistead (born March 9, 1752), daughter of Gill Armistead. Issue: (1), Betty, born March 10, 1775; (2), Miles, born January 5, 1777; (3), Mary, born March 10, 1779; (4), Gill Armistead, born November 16. 1781; (5), Cary, born February 16, 1783; (6), John, born September 15, 1784; (7), Patsey, born January 15, 1786, [married William H. Roane]; (8), Joseph, born May 7, 1787; (9); Samuel, born February 14, 1789; (10), William, Treasurer of the United States, born January 31, 1791; (11), James, born April 16, 1793; (12), Adeline Elison, born February, 1802.

Weber, Wilhite, Cobler, Garr, Rouse, Turner, Stolts, Tommas (Thomas), Zeuche, Manspeil, and Crisler. The following may have been associated with the colony in 1734, though their names are not found until later: Vallick (Walk) 1735, Leatherer 1735, Finks 1736, Ziegler 1737, Sluchter 1737, Oehler (Aler) 1742, Fisher 1743, Miller, 1743, Bomgarner 1744. Then the Hoffman, Wayman and Holzclau families in spite of their different religious faith may have been counted in the number 62 since they lived in the same vicinity. Of some of these names there were several families, as of the Wilhite, Yager, Tommas, Carpenter and others. So it seems that we must have almost all the names of the 62 families of 1734. From a diligent comparison of contemporaneous and subsequent records I can find mention of about 160 men, women, and children who were undoubtedly members of the colony in 1734.

4. The German home of the 1717 colony. Stoever's pamphlet referred to above states that these Germans came from Alsace, the Palatinate, and adjacent places. Aside from this general statement, we have only a few other indications. The naturalization paper of Nicholas Yager, dated July 13, 1722, gives him as a native of Weichersbach (Wickersbach?), Hesse, Germany. The naturalization paper of his son, Adam Yager, dated Sept. 19, 1730, represents him as born at Fulkenston, near Dusseldorf, in the Dukedom of Neuberg, Germany. Fulkenston has been crossed out and Frankenstein written above it, apparently by Godfrey Yager, son of Adam. A descendant of Nicholas Yager, from a line that has preserved traditions better than any other, states that in his branch the German home of Nicholas Yager was always given as Nidrobock (Niederbach?). Nothing more definite has yet been found.

My own particular contribution to the history of this colony is genealogical. The records given below have practically all never been published before. I give all the records I have been able to find on the members of the 1717 colony, adding data on a few others who later became intimately associated with them. The reader should bear in mind that up to 1734 these Germans lived in Spotsylvania County, first at Germanna and later on the
